

things you didn't know about...

Tori Etherington

- 1 She is a fan of Melbourne City FC (can even explain the offside rule!).
- 2 She speaks French.
- 3 She has two goldfish called Frankie and Raymond.
- 4 She used to live and work in Glasgow, Scotland.
- 5 When not at Emmanuel College, works in a private child psychology practice supporting young children, adolescents and families.
- 6 She is obsessed with kikki k stationary!

I grew up by the bay and spent my summers down the surf coast, developing a love of the ocean. As a middle child with 2 sisters, my conflict resolution skills were second to none, and I always loved working with people. I developed a passion for psychology, and after a few years of study in Melbourne I went on student exchange to The University of Glasgow. I ended up staying in Scotland for another year, working in the local library and volunteering at the children's hospital. Upon my return to Australia, I embarked on my Masters of Psychology, graduating alongside my now colleague Ally Matheson.

On a more personal note, I recently travelled to a little village called Luss in Scotland to get married! We had a traditional Scottish wedding-kilt, bagpipes, the works. My husband and I enjoy spending our weekends riding or walking along the beach, going to AFL or soccer games and spending time with family and friends.

LIFE TO THE FULL
